[REDACTED] was informed by the [REDACTED] that [REDACTED] had also come to town together with George ZOTIADES and his wife, and that all three had dinner the night of 30 January 1961 with [REDACTED], Minister of Interior/Ministry of Makris and his wife, the famous Doroula of the Vertens case. [REDACTED] and ZOTIADES were to leave on 1 February for Hamburg where the latter will remain for one and a half months, presumably working on the Vertens problem. [REDACTED] added that former Interior Minister Antonis GEORGIADIS, a Cypriot student in Germany, was also in contact with Vertens in Germany.

2. From this mixture of familiar names, it is logical to conclude that the Greek and Cyprus Governments are concerned about one and the same case, the efforts of the Grivas group to cause the former embarrassment through the Vertens Affair and the latter harassment through the Pansyrian Fighters Association.
